Dr. Tae-Ung Baik teaches international criminal law, human rights in Asia, criminal procedure, and Korean law. Dr. Baik was born in South Korea earning his LL.B. from Seoul National University College of Law. He earned his master (LL.M.) and doctoral (JSD) degrees on international human rights law from Notre Dame Law School in the U.S. He was admitted to the Bar in the State of New York, and worked for Human Rights Watch in New York as a research intern and consultant. He conducted a research on human rights as a visiting scholar at Harvard Law School in 2002. He also served the South Korean Delegation in the 56th United Nations Sub-Commission on the Promotion and Protection of Human Rights as a legal adviser. His book, “Emerging Regional Human Rights Systems in Asia,” (Cambridge University Press, 2012) is an in-depth look at significant changes in Asia over the last several decades and the growth of key elements that support human rights.
