He is the President of the American Association of Teachers of Esperanto and has authored three books and articles which have been published in professional journals. Esperanto was introduced in 1887 by Dr. L.L. Zamenhof to serve as a common language for all people, enabling them to not only communicate while retaining their own native languages and cultural identities but also foster the feeling of communal solidarity which comes with having a common language. As a result, Esperanto is not merely a language but a community of world citizens.
