Andrew Cayley
International Co-Prosecutor of the ECCC

Mr. Cayley was appointed as International Co-Prosecutor of the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia (ECCC) on November 2009.

In 2003, the United Nations assisted the government of Cambodia in establishing the ECCC to prosecute the senior leaders of the Khmer Rouge for crimes committed during the reign of Democratic Kampuchea. The Khmer Rouge regime took power on April 17, 1975 and was overthrown on January 7, 1979. During this period of 3 years, 8 months, and 20 days, upwards of two million people perished.

Prior to joining the ECCC, Mr. Cayley served as:

♦ Defense Counsel for Charles Taylor – Special Court for Sierra Leone
♦ Senior Prosecutor – International Criminal Court
♦ Senior Prosecutor – International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia
♦ Defense Counsel for Ivan Cermak – International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia
