LIBERMAN GRADUATE CENTER

COFFEE SPACE. STUDY SPACE. MEETING SPACE.

DANFORTH UNIVERSITY CENTER | SUITE 300 | 9:00AM - 5:00PM MONDAY - FRIDAY
GRADCENTER.WUSTL.EDU
FACEBOOK.COM/WUGRADCENTER
ABOUT US

Open to graduate and professional students from the seven graduate schools at Washington University, the Liberman Graduate Center is a dedicated space to meet, connect, and engage with other graduate students. Stop in to meet friends, check email, get coffee, have lunch, study, or attend events focused on graduate student interests.

Check the online Graduate Center calendar and the weekly Graduate Professional Council newsletter for events of interest to graduate students. Graduate Center programming covers topics such as graduate student professional development, university-wide graduate student groups and graduate student leadership, new student and orientation activities, interdisciplinary and academic workshops, and seminars focused on personal development.
WHY VISIT?

I find the Liberman Center a great place to relax between classes. It's usually quiet enough to study, but it's also an acceptable environment to chat or study with classmates. I've even made a few good friends through people that I've met in the Center. I couldn't recommend this place enough.

- BRIAN HEISE, MASTER'S STUDENT

- Reserve study and meeting spaces
- Coffee, tea, and snacks
- Computer lab with R, SPSS, SAS, GIS, and free printing
- Get involved in the university-wide graduate student groups
- Attend leadership & professional development programming
- Earn a leadership certificate
There are many university-wide graduate student groups for you to join and to lead. These groups are advised by the Liberman Graduate Center.

The Graduate Professional Council represents all graduate and professional students and hosts social events and professional development workshops across disciplines.

gradcenter.wustl.edu/groups
THE STAFF

SUPPORTING YOUR LEADERSHIP, CAREER, AND PROFESSIONAL GOALS

ASSOCIATE DEAN FOR GRADUATE CAREER AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

ASSISTANT DEAN FOR GRADUATE STUDENT AFFAIRS & LIBERMAN GRADUATE CENTER DIRECTOR

GRADUATE STUDENT LEADERSHIP COORDINATOR