William C. Kirby, Geisinger Professor of History and Director of the Fairbank Center for East Asian Research at Harvard University, is a historian of modern China. Kirby’s work examines China’s economic and political development in an international context. He has written on China’s relations with Europe; the history of modern Chinese capitalism; the history of freedom in China; the international socialist economy of the 1950s; U.S.-China relations; and relations across the Taiwan Strait.

American and Chinese Universities in the 21st Century

Friday, 10 November 2006
Lecture - Anheuser-Busch Hall, Room 305, 3 p.m.
Reception - Janice Lee Reading Room, 4:30 p.m.